DECORATION DAY EXERCISES

Outline of the G. A. R. Memorial Committee's Program.

CEREMONIES AT ARLINGTON

The Occasion There to Be as Elaborate as in Former Years-Special Tribute for Admiral Porter's Tomb-Appropriate Exercises at All Other Graves of Union Dead.

At a meeting of the memorial committee of the G. A. R., held last night at their hall, reports were received from the subcommittees. Plans for the appropriate observance of Decoration Day were submitted and adopted. Everything is progressing favorably, and although the program will not be completed before Friday great satisfaction was expressed by all present. The plans for the parade have not yet been perfected. Of course, the chief celebration will be at Arlington, but there will also be the usual exercises

at all of the cemeteries containing Union

At the Arlington National Cemetery the orations will be delivered by Hon. Jonathan P. Dolliver, of Iowa, and Hon. Web-ster Davis, Assistant Secretary of the Interior. Dr. Thomas Calver will read an original poem. Rev. W. H. Black, department chaptain, will offer up a prayer. The instrumental music, as in years past, will be furnished by the United States Marine Band, while the G. A. R. Musical Union will render vocal selections. The ceremontes will be under the direction of De partment Commander Thomas S. Hopkins.

In addition to the ceremonies in the amphitheater there will be special services under the direction of Comrade W. H. Michael, chief clerk of the State Department, at the tomb of Admiral Porter. A floral ship will be placed over the grave as a tribute to the old paval hero's memory from the sailors of the G. A. R.

At the Soldiers' Home Cemetery the ser vices will be quite elaborate. Instrumental music will be furnished by the Fourth liver the poem, and there will be an oramusic will be furnished by a chorus yet to be selected. Special services will be held at the tomb of Gen. John A. Logan under the direction of a subcommittee composed of the Logan Guard of Honor and a committee from the Legion of Loyal

Women. Preceding the ceremonies there will be a parade, headed by the Soldiers' Home Sand

On Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock special fing mrvices will be held in the Soldiers' Home Chapel The program is as follows: Sermon by Rev. G. Facius, chaptain of the Home, from Joshua iv 8-7; patriotic an-

HORATIO KING'S OBSEQUIES

His Late Home.

Two Hymns Written by the Deceased Many Years Ago Were Sung in Conformity With His Wishes. The funeral services of the late Horatio

King were conducted at his late residence. No. 707 H street northwest, yesterday afternoon, Rev. Dr. Mackay-Smith, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, officiating. The music was furnished by a female quartet from the choir of Assembly Church The service was largely attended by many of the acquaintances of the de-ceased and was very impressive. In compliance with the wishes of the deceased, two hymns, written by him on his trips to Europe in 1867 and 1875, were sung. The lirst, which was sung to the tune of "Federal Street," was this:

Great God, we come with grateful hearts, To offer up our thanks to Thee; For all Thy mercies, all Thy care Of us, Thy children, on the sea.

With one united voice we pray; To Thee we look—Thee we adore— To Thee our heartfelt homage pay. Watch o'er us evermore, and guide

Oh! bear us safely to the shore:

Our footsteps wheresoe'er we be; a storm, or sunshine, oh! abide With us, Thy children, on the sea.

Our rouls will rest in peace on Thee; Our trust sincere, safe from all harm; Behold Thy children on the sea.

After the sermon the second hymn was

Father of Light and Love. High on Thy throne above, Give us Thine ear. All weak and poweriess, we, Thy-children on the sea. Would turn our thoughts to Thee, And nothing fear.

O God, in Thee we trust; On Jesus' bosom must Our safety be; Then would we ever rest Our heads upon His breast— The haven e'er the best, On land or sea.

Oh, take us safe to shore: Thy guidance we implore
From day to day;
To Thee our thanks we bring;
Oive us all hearts to sing
The praises of our King—
His will obey.

The relatives present were the widow o the deceased, his son, Gen. Horatio C. King; his daughter, Mrs. Annie A. Cole, and daughter; his son, Henry F. King, and wife; his only surviving brother, Cyrus S. King, wife and daughter; his nephew, Prof. Theodore I. King, and wife; his nephew, Rev. G. M. P. King; his niece, Miss Jane Maris Seavey, and Dr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Talliot, the latter a sister of Mrs. Horat

Mrs Horatio C. King was so prostrate by the long illness and death of her daughter, Ethel, who was buried Friday that she was unable to attend. The interment was private.

Wheelman Run Over by a Wagon Charles Raley, a baker, living at No. 817 C street southeast, while riding a bleycle, collided with a heavy express an Penustyania avenue southeast wagon on Pennsylvania avenue sou yesterday morning and was run over. He sustained several painful cuts and bruises, and was removed to Providence Hospital.

Miss Sarah Willard Howe's May

Exhibition a Great Success. Simple But Impressive Services at The second annual May exhibition by the juvenile pupils of Miss Sarah Willard Howe's dancing school took place Friday night at the town hall of Brookland, in the form of a two-act drama, "Violet's Dream," written by Miss Sarah Willard McGee; Polly, Viola Rhine; Grace, Margaret Murean; Bertha, Bessie Maxwell; Fairy Pity, Alma Risdon; Fairy Rose, Mabel Flanagan; Cupid, Little Elsie Sheetz; at tendants to the Fairy Queen: Alberta Stew art, Viola Rhine, Lillian Gayle, Bessie Maxwell, Ella and Florence Crook, Edith und Madge McGee, Margaret Marean, Ethel Bates, Marie Stone, Nettic Jarrett; Fairy Queen, Marie Howe

The program was as follows: In the first act, Daucing Girl, Nettle Jarrett; Spanish Ballet, by Mabel Flanagan, Marie Howe, Alma Risdon, Alberta Stewart: recitatio 'Seeing Things at Night," by Mary Dowling; and in act two, Fantasia, by Mabel Flanagan; Rainbow Dance, by Ethel Bates, Edith and Madge McGee, Nettle Jarrett, Elia and Florence Crook, and Bessie Maxwell; Solo, Sun Dance, Lillian Gayle; Titania, Marie Howe; Scarf Dance, Alma Risdon; Galety Girls, Margaret Marean and Viola Rhine; Tyrol, Lillian Gayle; "Little Dottie and Little Tottle," from "The American Beauty " Florence and Ella Crook; La Cachocha, Alberta Stewart; Bow and Arrow Dance, Little Elme Sheetz; Butterfly Ballet, Marie Stone Dance of the Nymph, Ethel Bates: La Nuit (toe ballet), Marie Howe.

"Little Dottle and Little Tottle," from the opera of "An American Beauty," "Fantasia," "Dancing Giri," "Tyrol," "La Cachuca," butterfly ballet, and Titanie were very well executed. The rainbo dance, by seven children, representing the colors of the arch, in the sky, was a unique feature. Little Elsie Sheetz, the four-year-old baby of the school, captured the audience as Cupid. Marie Howe, who is well-known to the public, gave two dances in her usual graceful manner. Her "La Unit" was a remarkable piece of toe work, for which she received such hearty applause that she was obliged to repeat it. Marie will be seen again in the serpentine dance on Tuesday evening at the National Rifles

At the close of the program the medals were presented. There had been offered a medal to the pupil selling the greatest number of tickets, and this was awarded Florence Crook. After this the teacher had a surprise in store for the school in the form of a medal for improvement and earnest work. This was drawn for beore the public and was captured by Mary

After the exhibition the floor was cleared or general dancing. Miss Johnson, of Eckington, was the plantst of the evening. The whole affair reflected great credit upon the young teachers, Misses Sarah and Marie Howe.

PRAYER TO MAKE MEN WHOLE Mrs. Comer Talks About the Non-Sectarian Convention.

Mrs. Comer, whose healing power has been made so much of in Chicago, and by the newspapers throughout the country, arrived in this city yesterday. She is rapidly comon-sertarian and non-partisan Christians, which is to be held on the Governmentreser-vations in this city on June 1, and of which the is organizer and president. Mrs. Comer was seen at her apartment at Willard's by a Timesrepresentative yesterday, and when asked the purpose of this convention said: "The purpose of this convention is to

It is dering his wife, Louise.

The hearing began with a protest by the charge of his wife, Louise. Bream," written by Miss Sarah Willard Howe, in which many difficult dances were introduced. All the children did good work and showed careful training. The cast was as follows: Violet, Mary Dowling; Mother, Florence Crook; Pauline, Edith McGree, Polity, Viola Phine, Grace Mary.

Copgress is expected to grant the use of the Monument grounds for the conven tion during the coming week. The large tents used for the annual Christian En deavor conventions will be loaned for the occasion. Half rates over all rall-roads can be had to the convention, and any other information will be furnished

Among the profident speakers will be George E. Burnell, A. P. Barton, Mrs. Margaret Peck and Dr. Gibbons, of Minne apolis. The names of the other speakers will be published as fast as received.

Mrs. Comer will deliver a lecture to her many friends in the parlors of Willard's Hotel this afternoon at 3:30, the subject of which has not yet been decided upon Mrs. Comer is a bright-eyed, iresh-look-ing young woman who claims to have been wonderfully healed by prayer five years ago, at the Buffalo Lithia Springs in Virginia, and that she was literally made over in her physical body, as we as spiritually.

A BULLY IN A STREET CAR.

Charles Carter Refused to Pay Fare

and Then Became Violent. Charles Carter, alias "Colonel," a burly Young negro, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Policenian Kramer and Special Officer Dorsey for disorderly conduct in a street car at the corner of Fourteenth and G streets. Carter refused to pay his fare and was ordered to get off, but refused. When Special Officer Dorsey attempted fist and created a lively scene in the car.

Several ladies were badly frightened and attempted to jump off while the car was in When Policeman Kramer came to the officer's assistance Carter drew a knife and made a desperate lunge at his captor, but fortunately was prevented from doing him bodily harm by the interference of several outsiders. Finally the ruffian was over-powered and taken to No. 1 station and locked up with four charges entered against

INCENDIARISM SUSPECTED.

Pissiling's Barn on Benning Road Completely Destroyed.

Fire was discovered about 11 o'clock last night in the large barn of D. Pissiling, on Benning road, near Twentieth street portheast A local alarm was turned in and engine No. 10 responded, but could do nothing to save the structure.

Mr. Pissiling is a cattle dealer and had a large number of blooded stock in the barn, all of which was gotten out safely. The residence adjoining was badly scorches The entire damage will reach $1,200, of which $1,000 will be to the barn, which was totally consumed. The origin of the blaze is supposed to be incendiary, but no arrests were made last night. Prisoner Made a Queer Plea.

"Ise guilty of stealing it, but not of takin' it outen de yard," was the plea of Dennis Harris, colored, in the police court yesterday, when charged with stealing a large palm plant from the yard of Walter C. Murphy, No. 507 Fourth street northwest. He was found and as it was his second offense, I was held for the grand jury in $500

Fighting for His Life. Chicago, May 22 -Adolph L. Luctgert, the wealthy sausage manufacturer, was brought into court today for a pre-hearing to proceed on the theory that the corpse, or portions of it, would be proluced. The State also scored a point in the practical deduction of the story that Mrs. Luctgert had been seen alive at Kenosha, Wis. The defense gained one point in the court proceedings and one on the outside. Dietrich Eickner, brother of the missing woman, and a lending witness rings found in the vat August Richmann, a former employe of Luctgert, gave a plausible explanation of the character of the fluid in the vats, the finding of bones and flesh, and of Luebcert's alleged presence in the basement

The proceedings abounded in wrangle by Commander E. J. Braskings; solo, by Miss Beasie Beadle; oration, by Charles A. Davis, Esq.; song, "Old Glory," by little Josephus Faulkner; recitation, by Master etween counsel. Sensations were constantly threatened, but nothing resulted The hearing was adjourned until Monday.

POSTOFFICE ROBBED.

Stamps and Some Cash Stolen at Hyattsville.

Hyattsville, Md., May 22.-The post office at this place, which is located in the drug store of Dr. Alfred H. Wells, was entered by thieves between the hours of 11 and 12 o'clock last night and robbed of a number of stamps and a small amount of money. Several boxes of cigars and a quantity of other goods were also stolen. The safe, in which a large quantity of stamps was kept, was not touched

Hall, Mrs. Clifford Howard, Mr. K. E. Ball, Mr. K. Scabolt, Miss Mand Dreis and Miss Kathern Collins. An address was delivered by Hon. Henry Castle. After the reception, the guests were dismissed and the business of the association was attended

A Successful Young Actor.

Mr. Wilber Sharpe, better known in the dramatic ranks as Caryl Wilbur, a promising young Washington actor, is in town for a few weeks, visiting friends. For the past three seasons he has been playing successful leads with the Lyceum stock company of Brooklyn. He was last seen in Washington during the engagement of "A Woman of War," that realistic stage narrative from the pen of Gen. Felix Angus, and created a marked impression in the opposite lead to Mrs. Emma Bell.

because your dollar buys a dollar's worth and more when circumstances make it possible. Where there's no betraying of your confidence—and where satisfaction is assured. We have made this one of the most successful stores which this city has yet seen because we have ignored the old, worn out methods of retailing-ignored the schemes and fake ways to which others have resorted, and we've gained your confidence by deserving it. You like our liberal Credit system because it helps you makes buying easy—and the accommodation costs you nothing. It's as free as your breath and you're never denied it as long as you keep your promises.

The millinery department forges ahead -each day outdoing its predecessor. The business of Easter week has since been almost doubled-until the success has become phenomenal.

There's a vast difference in millinery and milliners, and you'll find ours different in style, in quality, in work-manship than that which is turned out elsewhere, in that every hat and bonnet is designed by women thoroughly in touch with the newest fashions of Europe and America, and who possess the ability to create model patterns equal to any that are produced in Paris. A word about the waists.

The lot consists of the finest French lawns, French madras, white India linens, black and white striped lawns and pretty organdles. Nearly every one is finished with pearl buttons, and they all have pointed yoke backs, detachable collars, and show careful, painstaking workmanship. There are light colors, dark colors and mediums—a variety which is almost unlimited. There is not a waist in the lot worth less than a dollar, and the most of them are worth $1.50, yet you get the unrestricted choice of them for 59c.
